

Premium Rate Services

Guidelines & Code of Practice

All Premium Rate Services are regulated by the Phone-paid Services Authority, who has developed a Code of Practice that must be followed by all in the Premium Rate supply chain.

PSA publish information on their website for all aspects of Premium Rate numbering, including your regulatory requirements, special conditions and how to register your service. Their guide for those new to the industry can be found here <https://psauthority.org.uk/for-business/new-to-the-industry> and general guidance and compliance, including the current Code of Practice, here <https://psauthority.org.uk/for-business/code-guidance-and-compliance>.

Number Types Available

We can offer a range of pence per minute and pence per call numbers, plus some ranges that have both elements.

For full details of the number ranges we can offer, please see our Non Geographic Numbering Plan in the Numbering section of our website.

For details of our out-payments on Premium Rate numbers, please see our PRS Rate Card in the Premium Rate Services section of our website.

Magrathea requirements

Before we can provide you with service on a Premium Rate number, there are a number of checks we must carry out. Please note that the whole supply chain for a Premium Rate service is responsible for due diligence so we strongly recommend that you have a similar process in place.

We will require a completed Registration form, along with any additional documentation requested. Customers based outside the EU will be required to provide additional identity documentation, in form of a copy of your Company Registration Document or Tax Registration Document.
